The letter below led to the research notes which follow. I have made no attempt at interpreting the information though I believe that it speaks for itself.

Good morning Robin

I wonder if you could help a complete stranger?

I found your name on a South Africa Genealogy website, linked to the surname ERASMUS. My research has hit a wall on my paternal grandmother. Details I have of her are:

Born: Judith Cornelia Etrisia ERASMUS, sometime in the late eighteen hundreds. She married my grandfather Bernadus Ignatius Heroden DISSEL probably after the Boer War, estimate between 1902 - 1905. In 1905, she had her first child Johannes Christoffel DISSELL in Germiston. She went on to have 8 children, the first few born in Germiston, and the rest in Johannesburg. I have documentation indicating her address as Kensington Johannesburg in 1945. She must have died between then and 1951 when I was born.

DISSEL ⁱ

A (partial) transcript of a letter to Jno Dissell of Johannesburg from The Chief Archivist for the Union of South Africa at the Houses of Parliament, (Lieut.-Col.) Dr. C Graham Botha ⁱⁱ.

What may be of interest is the following which he recounts:

A Will [was] registered in the Orphan Chamber 27 March 1830, the then earliest such attached to a "Dessel" known, where he is called Dessel of Zwartzenburg. The spelling is contested by Jno, he's always known it as Dessel of Zchwartzzenbergh!

C Graham Botha goes on to share that a Johan Frederick Deijssel van Paterborn gehuwd (married) 2de Januari 1752 met (with) Cornelia van Saxen. JFD died 31 October 1823.

Further, there is a Joint Will of Johan Christoffel Dessel van Zwartzenburg end (and) Evertina Christina born in Colony (this suggested an emancipated slave)

Family name spellings he has determined from Wills etc. are 1726-35 Dissel; 1830 Dessel; 1833 Deyssel; 1836 Dyssel; 1851 Dissel; 1853 Diesel; 1861 Deysel; 1866 Deyzel; 1870 Dysel.

Last fact he shares: Jan Maries Dissel of Oost Vriesland a soldier arrived in the colony in 1720 aboard the Barneveld and was directed to be an agriculturalist. Later, with permission of the governor, he left. Jan Philip Dissel of Bikkenbag arrived aboard the West Vriesland and went on to become a wagon maker.

ⁱⁱ C Graham Botha. (1883-1973). For interest, I include the notes below ⁱⁱⁱ This is a transcription error by the archivist. It should read Frans Fredrick Erasmus. It will be noted that there are a number of such.

^{iv} For the record, Wodehouse later became part of the Dordrecht Divisional Council

^v To set the picture straight: I am assured by the archivist that problems relating to lineage where multiple marriages were involved, the spelling of names and identifying places accurately were not uncommon. It was often related to the uneducated nature of the people involved (citizenry and law officers); the use of English, High Dutch and the pidgin / patuá that later was to become formalised as Afrikaans; and the frequent lack of familiarity by those completing the records with rural geography, official and informal place names.
