THE ROYAL ARCHIVES

Dear Dr Pelteret,

Thank you for your letter regarding the Pelteret family. I have had a look through our records but have found nothing concerning your ancestors. I have also searched for Ann Holland whom you mentioned as the wife of Leger Pelteret but again found nothing. However, please note that the records held in the Royal Archives relating to Household employees are by no means complete.

I regret that I am unable to help you but wish you luck in your research.

Dear Dr Pelteret,

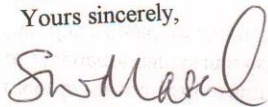

Mrs Bayliss has returned your e:mail to me for answer and I have had time to look into some of your suggestions. Firstly, however, I note that: George Pelteret arrived on a ship under Captain Brodie early in 1835 bound as house servant to R.W. Eaton in Cape Town, as you confirm. The intervention of the Children's Friend Society is interesting in this context: it is to some extent surprising in that even at that date the surviving churches and Huguenot institutions were still in a position to look after 'their' children in need so that orphans and others in contact with 'Huguenot' authorities would not have had to fall into the hands of other organisations for care and placement. The names of several (needy) Peltier adults do appear in the Hospital records for the 18th century (as LIII below). I have, however, also now found a couple of Huguenot names in a list of children sent to Canada at the period so we can assume that there could be Huguenot descendants amongst their charges.

Now you refer also to medieval instances of the name. While it is possible for their to be linear connections between French families settling in England at that time and their collaterals in France becoming Huguenots in the 16th/17th centuries and having descendants settling in England at that time, it is not likely that one can trace connections between them; a Pelter of the 18th century would know no kinship with a Pelteret newly immigrating from France.

I have already sent you our leaflets and have now checked the indexes to our publications and you may find the variants at Franschoek: Peltreau (Quarto series vol. XXVIII), Pelter (VIII: Thomas Pelter born in Roan [Rouen] in England 15 years, 1544: so pre-Reformation/religious persecution); Peltier (IV, V, VII, XI, XIII, XVI, XVIII, XXIII, XXVII, XXXV, LIII), Peltrau (XI, XXI, XXIII, XXXIX). I do not find Pelteret as such.

I attach a list of suggested contacts for further enquiry

Yours sincerely,

S.W. Massil
