1.1 Johann (Jan) Serrurier b 1734 d..... (second) m Geertruy(i)da van
Reenen(Keenen), 23 January (November) 1755. Relative : Jan W Geurts.

Johann (Jan) Serrurier hailed from Hanau near Frankfort-en-Main. He bought "Alphen" in 1758, requesting and obtaining an extra 3 morgen of adjoining land in 1764 and selling it in 1765. He bought "Groot Constantia" in 1778 from Jacobus van der Spuy for 53,000 gulden and sold it "in fairly poor condition" 7 months later to Hendrik Cloete owner of Nooitgedacht, Stellenbosch for 60,000 gulden. He was granted permission to manumit a slave, named January, in 1760 on payment of security to the Burgerraad. In 1768, he was sold two houses and erven (in Block 10, Nos.1&2) from which to conduct a wine business. Together with 7 others, he erected a blanket factory following an altercation with the then "fiskaal", Jan Boers. He was granted discharge as Captain of the 1st Company of Burgers in 1772 following a fractured right arm (with some resultant dysfunction) and on the grounds of gout and "progressing years". He became an influential member of die Burgerraad, being appointed in Boer's stead by the Prince of Orange in 1784.

Will dated 17 July 1755 signed by Jan Serrurier of Hanau and Catharina Cruÿtsman

1.2 Johannes Petrus Serrurier hailed from Amsterdam. He enrolled for theological training at Leiden University in 1753; and was ordained in 1759. He was appointed whilst in Amsterdam as pastor to the Dutch Reformed Church, Cape Town, and assumed duty in 1760. The family lived at 26 Longmarket Street and (anecdotally) at the corner of Venus (later Queen Victoria) and Wales Streets. He remained at the Groote Kerk for 44 years, and was revered for his powerful preaching skills. Duties of historical note include : burying Governor Tulbagh in 1771; conducting the inaugural service of an enlarged Groote Kerk and preaching the first sermon from the magnificent pulpit built by the cabinet-maker Graaf between August 1788 and December 1789 to a design by Anton Anreith (later this pulpit was to stand protected but in situ whilst the church was demolished and a new built between 1835 and 1841); the dedication service of the Dutch Reformed Strooidakkerk, Paarl in 28 April 1805, and the pulpit in the Sendinggestig, Long St., CT. He retired in 1804, living an active further 15 years. The estate was valued initially at a substantial 293,600.18 rixdollars to which a further 439.9 and 7656.28 rixdollars were added later

Johan Fredrik Osmittius arrived from Nyinburg, Holland and requested permission to remain in the colony in 1816 CO 3906/400. He was granted burgership in 1817 CO 3909/426. The marriage between he and M E Serrurier took place in Stellenbosch in February 1818, their first will is dated 6 May 1819 MOOC 7/1/82. No. 116 & 117. He died 11 February 1820 having made a private codicil on 1 February 1820. The latter was the subject of a court case between "Magdalena Elizabeth Serrurier, widow and sole heiress of the late Johan Fredrik Osmittius versus Johan Fredrik Meyer, in his capacity as testamentary executor of the late Johan Fredrik Osmittius". Battle was enjoined in September 1831 and finalised in arch 1832. She claimed that she was entitled to "a just and correct account of the administration held by him, the said Johann Meyer, properly roved with vouchers". It transpired from the codicil that he was executor of the will, administrator of the estate and guardian of the minor; and "held in aforesaid capacity until her majority, or when she shall enter into marriage or other approved institutions in life" monies and property for which he had fully accounted on 22 September 1828 CSC 2/1/1/19. Abraham de Smidt (AdS) was one time owner of Groote Schuur, an artist of note and later Surveyor-General of the Cape Colony. One daughter married the prominent attorney J H Redelinghuys who, in 1862 took over AdS's home, "Sea Point House" renaming it "Weltevreden". AdS produced 3 daughters, Dora, Susanna and Johanna. Renowned for their culture and good taste, "Weltevreden" remained the home of the 3 sisters and a centre of Cape society until 1931 when the last sister died. The house was raised to the ground and a cinema built in its stead.

In 1875 the De Smidt's were seasonal tenants of a certain L A Serrurier of "Wave Crest", Sea Point. In those days, it was the custom for the wealthy to move (literally lock, stock 'n' barrel) to the Sea Point coast - "wij gaan nu achter toe" - in the hot summer months. Here they either already owned bijou residences which stood closed up for most of the year, or they rented accommodation from permanent residents. As an extended family, the Serruriers had substantial property interests in and about the Green Point, Sea Point and Fresnaye area.

Cornelia Gerhardina Smuts (do.Johannes Smuts and Susan Margaret Ferris) died married to Johannes Jeremias Cornelis Blignaut of Church Street, Wellington. No offspring. She died leaving an estate of £3736/18/11 to her brother, Louis B Smuts of Paarl.

I have not been able to find definitive proof of the father-son relationships quoted above. However, there is strong circumstantial evidence to support my hypothesis.

The Death Certificate of Lodewyk (Louis) Snr states his father as being John Frederick Serrurier and mother Charlotte Serrurier.

The Death Certificate of Frederick Serrurier states his father as being Jan Frederick and mother Deah Fredricka Mathews.

Estate papers of Jan(John) Frederik state that the only relatives living at the time of his death were : Jan Frederick S., Cornelia Eliana S., Magdalena Elisabeth S., Johannes Petrus S., Jan S and a Louis S, ~ surely Lodewyk S Snr.

Oral history has it that there were at least 3 brothers and a sister, thus Ludewyk (Louis) Snr b 1815, Samuel ("Alexander") b 1818, Johannes Petrus ("John Peter") b 1823. The relationships are borne out in the Liquidation and Distribution Accounts of the Estate of Ludewyk Snr (bequest to Henry Lawrence, "son of Samuel") and of Johannes Petrus ("John Peter"), where the spouse of James Alexander Yule Serrurier is stated as being his closest relative. The original will has yet to be found.

The oral history relating to the sister is as follows: Unknown Female ~ said to have been an extremely attractive woman. Married beneath her social standing. He, a basket-maker, had his little factory in the basement of the St. Stephen's Church, the "Old Theatre" or "komediehuis" in Riebeeck Square, Cape Town. Later, she went on to live with Judge Denys of the OVS "after whom Deneysville is named" (sic). She produced 2 daughters : a daughter who married a "tobacco man"; and another daughter who married a tug-master known as "Captain". The latter couple produced a daughter who reputedly married into wealth.

An extraordinary feature of researching this family is the little evidence for marriages having been solemnised in church. Certainly, only 7 have been found in the registers of the Dutch Reformed Church, Capetown.

Lodewyk Serrurier Snr was a well-known, successful Cape Town carriage-builder and wagon-maker. He made a fortune at the time of the Great Trek. His extensive business premises stood on the site of the current Supreme Court, 43-47 Keeromstraat, Cape Town. He left his business to his son, Charles George. Known for his parsimonious ways, he gave his nephew, James Alexander Yule enough money for him to buy a suit to wear to "Charlie's" funeral. On one occasion was witnessed by James Alexander Yule as having dropped his wallet in the street outside Standard Bank. On having it returned to him by JAYS, the same was rewarded with "a tanner" (six-pence).

Agnes Harriett Serrurier (niece)

Elizabeth Townsend of Mowbray (God-child / niece / daughter of William George Townsend) £50 (receipt witnessed by C & W Townsend)

Vera Tothill, God-child, daughter of Mortimer Tothill £25

Charles George , Daniel K Berrangé were appointed curator (together with the Orphan Chamber) of the bequest to the minor grandchildren. The grandchildren are listed as : (majors) Lodewyk Charles, Charles Lodewyk Maximilian (minors) Bertha Henrietta, Frederick Oscar Henry, Louise Eleanor, Laura Pauline, Harriett Maria.

Organisations that benefited included the D R Church, Adderley Street, the Wesleyan Church, Green Market Square, The Men's Home for the Aged and Indigent, and The Peoples Dispensary.

Mrs Eleanor Elizabeth van Niekerk's capital amount of £3000 was distributed in July 1903 following her death. MOOC 13/1/1188 No.172

1.2.5.1.2 Charles George ("Charles") Serrurier b 1849 d ..... m Laura Louisa Brown (b 1853 d 1893), Cape Town, 23 February 1875

Charles George Serrurier, in business with James Tennant (Tennant & Serrurier), had his property (a subdivision of "Zorgvliet Farm", Rosebank), attached 16 May 1884. Hugely complicated (and seemingly fraudulent) transactions had preceded this, involving the taking of a bond on the property with one Dirk Gysberk Eksteen, which, days after signing, was ceded to "sponsors" The South African Loan Mortgage & Mercantile Agency Ltd and Willem August Lippert respectively. Neither appear to have been serviced and Lippert called in the loan. The outstanding debt was appraised as £111/8/6 on an estate of £1673/18/6. He was finally declared insolvent on 15 December 1887, the order being signed by J C B Serrurier, Registrar of the Supreme Court. MOIB
2/2006 816

Charles George Serrurier was wealthy having inherited his father's wagon-maker's business and (indirectly) part of his fortune. Said to have "never worked a day in his life", he is reputed to have been very generous and was known "From The Cape to the Zambezi" for his friendliness and open-handedness.

Cemetery: TRIPOLI WAR CEMETERY Grave or Reference Panel Number : 12. A. 20.

Location : Tripoli War Cemetery is in the Mansura district of Tripoli, 2.5 kilometres west of the city centre. It is located off the western end of Sharia Jamahuriya, close to the major roundabout at Bab Gargaresh. The War Cemetery is about 365 metres off the main road, and is adjacent to the now disused Italian Municipal Christian cemetery. Part of this cemetery is used as a garden nursery. The entrance to the War Cemetery is found by entering through the main gate of the Christian cemetery. Walk straight on for about 100metres and then turn left (east).

Historical Information : During the North African campaign, Tripoli was an important Axis base until taken by Montgomery's forces on 23 January 1943. It then became a hospital centre, and the burials in the war cemetery were almost entirely from the hospitals, which included Nos. 2, 48 and 133 General Hospitals from March 1943, and No. 89 General Hospital from April 1944. Tripoli War Cemetery contains 1,369 Commonwealth burials of the Second World War, 133 of them unidentified.

Samuel Serrurier ("Alexander") was sexton to the "Scotch Church" (St. Andrew's Church, Cape Town) in 1867 and conducted business from 1 Berning's Buildings near Somerset Road. He was a well-known coffin-maker and undertaker. He died impoverished, owed a good deal of money on plots he had purchased on behalf of clients in Woltemade Cemetery, Maitland and who demised without settling their debts. His death notice was lodged by Henry Lawrence Serrurier (Harry Laurence ~ "Harvey") on 16 March 1881.

Minor children at the time of the death of parent are denoted thus (#).

KIMBERLEY.

Tuesday.—The death occurred in Kimberley yesterday morning of Mr. Serrurier, who, until recently, was Town Clerk of Fraserburg. He had been ailing for about three weeks, but his death came as an unexpected shock to the large circle of friends. The funeral took place this morning, following a memorial service in St. Cyprian's Cathedral.

Marks of Respect.

• FRASERBURG. •

Tuesday.—Mr. Henry Lawrence Serrurier having died at Kimberley yesterday morning, the local businesses closed for an hour as a mark of respect, and a memorial service will be held in the English Church. Mr. Serrurier, who was highly respected, had lived at Fraserburg for over 50 years, during which time he has been Justice of the Peace, served on the Town Committee, been Town Clerk, and also lay reader at the English Church.

Henry Lawrence (Laurence) Serrurier and his wife Emily Caroline lived at 3 Hem(m)ing St., Kimberley when they died. However, they left behind them Lot 2 Block 51 in Fraserburg as part of their meagre estates. This had a book value of £800 having been bonded to a solicitor in Fraserburg, one Daniel Mills Dyason {DMD}, for two amounts: £400 and £375 respectively. He, in turn, had ceded the bonds to the Standard Bank as security against an overdraft. By 1928, Fraserburg had been subjected to several years of drought, with a subsequent downturn in the value of properties. The Master of the Supreme Court tried to have the executor of Emily Caroline Serrurier's estate [her long-suffering son-in-law E T C Holmes {ETCH}] settle the estate. He declined because of the low property value. The bond holder {DMD} tried the same with the same result; and the Standard Bank was equally persistent of DMD. By December 1929, the outstanding debt on the Estate was £849/13/5, with the property having a current estimated value of £150. On 6 April 1931, DMD was sequestered. He promptly had a heart attack and died on 25 April 1931. The property was sold by the Standard Bank at an auction on 4 January 1932 to one, Pieter Andries Stephanus le Roux for £150. The Henry Lawrence (Laurence) Serrurier and wife, Emily Caroline, estates were finalised on 25 March 1932, with death duties of £161 being waived by the state. All costs other than those of the bond had been carried by the offspring up until that time who felt a "moral responsibility to settle things".

In the General Directory of South Africa (1894-1895) HLS is listed as a butcher and general dealer. There remains a Serrurier Street in Fraserburg, mute testimony to his passage.

Louis Herbert Serrurier was a reduction worker on the mines and subject to shift work. His wife's family, the Lamberts, are reputed to have lost title to their farm at Palmietfontein during the Second Anglo-Boer War. Certainly it is known that on 18 February 1901, there was heavy fighting between Boer forces and the Royal Irish Rifles (2nd Battalion) at Palmietfontein when on railway patrol from Natal Spruit.

Late in his life, HSL fulfilled a long-held ambition to restore the farm to the family. This he did, but soon fell ill and died but months thereafter.

Palmietfontein No.7, in the district of Germiston, has a particular place in history of motor sport in South African.

Louis Herbert and Vera Serrurier hasd 5 sons and a daughter. He three eldest sons enrolled in the armed forces at the being of World War II, Allen Leslie Serrurier under the non de plume of Allen Leslie.

The four Serrurier brothers, Jack, Louis, Allen, Henry and Robert, were enthralled with motorcycles and motorcycle racing. Louis Serrurier was the only one who, in addition, pursued motorcar racing. With the likes of Buddy Fuller, "the boys" laid down South Africa's first dirt track motorcycling speedway at "Old Barn" near Swartkoppes. This they later moved onto their father's farm as they wanted to develop a training circuit for motor racing enthusiasts.

A 3.8 mile track made up of the runways of the Palmietfontein aerodrome near Johannesburg hosted the 1956 Rand Grand Prix, won by the Ferrari of Peter Whitehead.

Louis Douglas Serrurier founded the motor racing team "LDS" in South Africa in 1956. It was active 1962-1968. Cars that were favoured over that period were Alfa Romeo (1962), Climax (1965-67), Repco (1968). Various specials were built for local races. His Mark 1 and 2 models were based on Cooper designs, whilst the Mark 3 was based on the Brabham BT11.

The name Alfa Romeo is synonymous with motor racing in South Africa. Back in the early 1960's, Alfa's jewel-like, twin-cam, 1500 cc motor was the preferred choice of many of SA's top drivers - men like Syd van der Vyver, Doug Serrurier, Bruce Johnstone and Ernie Pieterse.

1962 Rand Grand Prix, 15th. December - Kyalami, included the usual Lotus and BRM teams, Coopers, a Lola and specials of South African build like the LDS, the Assegai and the Netuar. Serrurier, 11th on the grid in his LDS Otelle Nucci 1962 Alfa Romeo 4 (1-39.1) took 6th place completing 49 laps before retiring. 1963 Grand Prix of South Africa, 28 December - East London: 333.17 km (3.9197 km x 85 laps) 11th position Doug Serrurier driving a LDS Otelle Nucci Alfa Romeo Mk2 #16 (LDS7 1:36.4). 1965 Grand Prix of South Africa, 1 January - East London: 333.625 km (3.925 km x 85 laps), Doug Serrurier driving a LDS Otelle Nucci Mk2-Climax (1:35.7) did not qualify. 1966 Grand Prix in Cape Town, he came 2nd in 3hrs driving a Lola T70. 1967 Grand Prix at Roy Hesketh, he won in 3hrs driving a Lola T70.

1969, Doug Serrurier retired from motor racing. Shamrock AC Cobra Replica proudly advertise Serrurier as being amongst their owners.

Lawrence Samuel Serrurier was a Reduction Worker. Both he and his wife died simultaneously in a car accident at Fraserburg Road Station (now Leeu Gamka) district Prince Albert. They had attended a séance in Johannesburg at which they were urged to visit the family graves in Fraserburg. After visiting the Irwins in CPT, they took a train to Fraserburg Road Station, visited the graveyard and were travelling by taxi to entrain again when the accident occurred.

In the General Directory of South Africa (1894-1895), J A Y Serrurier listed as a mattress-maker working at 32 Wicht St. and living at 70 Constitution St., Cape Town. Later, he became a compositor and linotype setter for "The Cape Times". He is said to have fought in the Kaffir Wars. Of "Tamboerskloof / City Bowl branch" of family. Lived in Roukoop Rd, Rondebosch, where Agnes was born. Later moved to Highfield House at the top of Strand St., later to Warren St., and still later to "Kingston", Gilmere Rd. Borrowed £200 from his Uncle Louis Snr. to buy Highfield House. On selling the house, and before going on holiday to England, he left his wife with £100 in gold sovereigns. His son, Louis, promptly took them and buried them out in the road. Fortunately, Louis was prevailed upon to disclose the hiding place.

The name "Yule" derives from the then Town Engineer of that name, a family friend. Grandfather of John Rolfe.

Frederick Serrurier was a shoemaker and was blind. He and Anna Serrurier (née Jacobs) had no offspring. They adopted one, Kathleen Ramsbottom, who became known as Catherine Serrurier. They were very poor and, in May 1877, subdivided their land in PE. in favour of the St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church. He and she died at 4 Petersen Lane, Port Elizabeth. His estate totalled £200.

The Muster Roll of the Uitenhage Volunteer Rifles 1892-1913 DD 13/5 lists the following:

700 Serrurier Fredk Enrolled 6 March 1900 aged 40 years Shoemaker Living at St. Patrick Hill, Port Elizabeth Discharged 19 March 1901 Completed service

His Death Notice gives his father as Jan Frederick Serrurier and mother as Deah Fredericka Mathews.

National Archives and Records Service has no record of a Kathleen/Cathleen Ramsbottom/Serrurier. The Cape Master Death Notice Index indicates that Catherine Ramsbottom died June 1954.

Death Notice of Catherine Ramsbottom aka. Serrurier.
She died a spinster at the age of 84 years and 9 months on 27 June 1954. She lived at the home of her friend Ester Jacobson née Frye, 6 Olive Street, North End, Port Elizabeth. Her estate was valued at £53/0/0 being made up of 1 second-hand sewing machine, a bed with bedlinen, a meager wardrobe of clothes and £40 in cash.
